Connecting Action Researchers

Sunday 28th April
– Wednesday 1st May

(Programme TBA)

Conference Sessions

Over the following four days, between the 28th April and May 1st, action researchers will host online events in their local communities. Individuals or groups can reach an international audience with the results of their own research. By sharing your sessions with participants from our network of 32 countries, we can enjoy lively discussions about common challenges that we tackle in very different settings.

If you would like to present an online session, all you need to do is to organise a local online network activity, make it accessible for others to join, and send details to info@carn.org.uk.

(If you do wish to offer a session, please download this template to outline your session and submit by March 27th). If you would like help and advice in organising an online session, please email info@carn.org.uk

CARN will create a programme of links to connect interested voices in questioning and discussing how Action Research can be of greater value in our communities.

Sign up for free now!

If you would like to participate for free in this online event – either as a presenter or as a guest – please register your interest by 27th March 2024 by clicking on this link and we will make sure that you receive a programme with all the links in good time to plan your Conference experience. (This will also make it easier to provide a Certificate of Conference attendance if requested.)

 Remember: You can write up your conference research for CARNpraxis!
