Message of the Hon. Minister of Education

Present younger generation is the guardians of this country tomorrow. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the parents, the school and the entire society to convert them into well-disciplined, courageous, efficient, punctual group of children with a perfect personality.

Form the birth to the school, parents are our teachers and therefore, a massive responsibility in the physical, psychological, cognitive, social and emotive development of the child devolves on parents.

When admitting to school this role shifts from parents to the teachers. The teacher may have to guide the student while patching up the shortfalls of the parents’ role. It is the unending responsibility of the school teacher, to guide students in every way and endowing the recognized values of our culture.

In the present society, in which the social values are rapidly decreasing and the innocent children are preyed by increasing social vices and therefore, the prime requisite of education should be to generate a well-disciplined human resource knowledgeable of the value of the accepted ethical behavior.

Against this endeavor, this booklet “Virtuous Generation – A Better Society” has been formulated to help build healthy personal behaviours so as to be fair by every child.

I avail myself of this opportunity inform all principals and teachers and the whole school community to assist this programme immediately establishing the proposed committees in facilitating to build up the school premises, classrooms and the teacher-student behavior as expected through the planned activities.

It is my sincere wish that this invaluable effort will be guidance in socializing a knowledgeable child empowered with moral values and thereby a virtuous society will become a reality.

Hon. Prof. G. L. Peiris
Minister of Education
Message of the Secretary to the Ministry

“The value of a child with good qualities is apparently illustrated in the above poem. When comparing the past child with the present child, it is evident that the moral values embedded in the past child are gradually decaying from the present child.

With the rapid advancement of science and technology, the present child is capable of using his intellectuals. However, he lacks values and attitudes recognized in a virtuous society. Even though he strives to win competitively, he is incapable of accepting victory and defeat in the same spirit, facing crisis situations successfully as well as living in coexistence within the society.

Present child has lost his world. From dawn to night, parents are in an unending struggle in getting their children to go through the exam-centered education. This has unknowingly obstructed all openings for environmental and social skills to be achieved in our infant and childhood ages as well as positive attitudes inculcated through pleasant experiences.

In this background, I assure that this programme, designed for the principals and teachers to apart from the parents to promote moral values within children, is timely appropriate. The objective of this effort is to focus more on moral values and thereby to build up a better society.

Therefore, I expect all principals and teachers would focus on moral values of children and dedicate themselves for the success of this great endeavor.

I. Introduction

II. Vision of the Programme

III. Expected Objectives of the School Moral Value Programme

IV. Requirement of the promotion of moral values in schools

V. Parties directly contributing to the promotion of moral values in schools

I. Introduction

School Moral Value Promotion Programme is expected to be jointly implemented by the Ministry of Education and the National Institute of Education with the view of raising awareness within the school community. This should be daily implemented with the cooperation of Education Administrative Officials, Principals, teachers, parents and students. Since this is a timely requirement, all stakeholeder parties are expected to be responsible and accountable.

It is expected to uplift school discipline and to develop moral values, personality, emotive knowledge and soft skills within individuals and thereby to ensure the betterment of the future society.

II. Vision of the Programme

“A Virtuous Generation, A Better Society”

III. Expected Objectives of the School Moral Value Programme

1. To develop individual characters for a virtuous living.
2. Identification and securely endowing the values of indigenous culture.
3. Realization of development goals through a better co-existed society.
4. Building up willpower and a contented life.
IV. Requirement of the promotion of moral values in schools

1. Since opportunities for the development of social values are limited within knowledge-centered education, to empower the school to practically implement moral values.

2. Since the moral values Sri Lankans had in the past to live a perfect moralistic social life have been decayed from the society, to emphasize their timely value.

3. Since numerous issues have been emerged due to the violation of ethics within the social system, to guide the society to resolve such issues.

4. Directing to avoid the social calamity of diverting from the religious environment during day to day living.
V. Parties directly contributing to the development of moral values

01. Moral Values

1.1 What are moral values?

Moral values are the social values or the code of human ethics accepted by the society, which requires for the uplifted recognition for an individual within the society.
